- Publicly available sources.

We will not collect, use or disclosure sensitive information about you unless:

- We are legally required to do so; or
- We need that information for one of our functions or activities and we have your express consent.

Sometimes we may receive unsolicited personal information. If so, we will check whether that the information is reasonably necessary for our functions or activities, and we could have collected directly if we had solicited the information from you. If it is, we will handle this information the same way we do with other information we seek. If not, and it is lawful and reasonable to do so, we will ensure we do the right thing and destroy or de-identify it.

06 How We Hold Personal Information

We hold personal information in different ways, mainly in electronic form but from time to time in paper form. The security of your personal information is important to us, and we take reasonable steps to protect it from misuse, interference and loss, unauthorised access, modification, or disclosure.

Some of the ways we manage the security of personal information includes:

- Limiting access to the business premises
- Confidentiality and Privacy training requirements for our employees
- Record management and retention processes
- Security measures embedded within our IT infrastructure, IT applications and secure online payment facilities to process payments by credit cards
- Limiting employee access to personal information to those specific roles requiring access; and
- Electronic security systems, such as firewalls and data encryption on our websites.

Where personal information is held electronically with third party data storage providers, we rely on contractual arrangements to ensure those providers take appropriate measures to protect that information and restrict the use of the information.

Privacy Policy

We only keep personal information for as long as it is required for the purposes that it was collected. We are required to keep some personal information for certain periods of time under law. When personal information is no longer required, we will ensure that it is destroyed or de-identified.

07 Who We Disclose Personal Information To

We may disclose your personal information to a range of parties that may include:

- Our related companies including companies in the PassportCard group,
- Our insurers and reinsurers
- Government, law enforcement agency, regulatory or enforcement bodies and agencies as required
- External dispute resolution bodies
- Loss adjustors, assessors, investigators, and recovery agents
- Medical and health service providers including case managers, rehabilitation consultants
- Marketing organisations
- Your employer, and
- Any agent or contractor of any of the third parties listed above.

We will not disclose any sensitive information for any purpose other than the purpose for which it was collected, or directly related to a secondary purpose unless you have provided express consent.

08 Overseas Disclosure

We may hold and disclose personal information overseas, these locations may include Israel and countries within the European Union. We implement reasonable measures to ensure that an overseas recipient of personal information does not breach the privacy laws in Australia. Where personal information has been disclosed overseas there may be a possibility the recipient may be required to disclose it under foreign law, which is not considered to be a breach under the Privacy Act.

09 What Happens If Personal Information Is Not Disclosed

If we ask for personal information and it is not given to us, we may not be able to:

- Provide you with any or all the features and benefits of our products and services
- Determine the amount of any premiums and associated fees, and
- Complete the assessment and determination of any claims.

10 Corrections And Access

We endeavor to ensure that personal information that we collect, use, or disclose is accurate, complete, up-to-date, and relevant for the purposes for which it was collected. Should you believe the personal information we hold is inaccurate, out of date, incomplete, irrelevant, or misleading please contact our Privacy Officer. Any corrections will be made within 30 days of a request, or such longer period as agreed with you. Should we be unable to assist with correction of personal information we will let you know in writing.

Privacy Policy

Should you customer wish to access personal information held please contact the Privacy Officer, there is no charge for requesting access, however we may require you to meet our reasonable costs should large amounts of material require collating and photocopying.

Privacy laws provide for specific circumstances where access may be refused, for example, where such access may encroach on the privacy of others. Should access be refused we will provide you a response in writing.

11 Marketing & Personal Information

When you provide us with personal information you consent to its collection and use for marketing purposes unless you advise us otherwise. Marketing may be in the form of mail, SMS, email, telephone or online about news, special offers, products and services.

You can unsubscribe or contact us to change your marketing preferences at any time.

To carry out marketing we may disclose your personal information to others that provide us with specialised data matching, trending or analytical services, as well as general marketing services.

We, and other people who provide us with marketing services, may combine the personal information collected from you, with the information we, or our related companies, or our service providers already hold.
